Pastor's Message:

Dear Friends in Christ,

I had the privilege of traveling to Scotland with daughter Sarah last week just for the pleasure of it. I hadn't taken a trip of this size in some years. It gave me a chance to marvel over the number of people it takes to make a flight like that possible. Actually, I have only a limited idea: pilots, stewardesses, mechanics, baggage handlers, air traffic controllers, security screeners, customs agents, airline clerks, are the more obvious ones. But as I pondered a bit more, I realized there were custodians, business thinkers, supervisors, electricians, fuel truck drivers, weather forecasters, plane cleaning crews, airline meal makers, water system operators...more people actually involved than I could imagine! Just so I could hop on a plane and go on a great adventure!

I was also struck by how, in a few moments in an airport like O'hare, it's possible to rub shoulders with people from dozens of different countries and cultures. In a large international airport, it's easy to see the varieties and similarities of the whole human family.

One other thing I noticed was how so many of the workers were folks who were obviously immigrants to this nation. I'd guess that most of the airplane and airport cleaning crews were immigrants. It occurred to me my trip wasn't possible without them showing up for work! Actually, my adventure trip depended on every one of those folks showing up and doing their job. And then it dawned on me: the kingdom of God is like that too!

For in the world that belongs to God, all kinds of folks are needed: not just preachers and Sunday School teachers, and musicians, but parents who bring their kids to worship; and people who care for their neighbors; and those who visit the sick; and cooks who share a meal; and workers who clean toilets, and advocates who challenge the status quo, and justice seekers who remind us of what is right and fair, and...the list goes on!

2,000 years ago, St. Paul wrote: "The gifts of God are present in each person, in some way, for the good of all." My big vacation trip reminded me of that large truth-which is also a wonderful promise! The gifts that are needed to make the world go 'round, or to make a society healthy, or to make the church 'work' are present. We just have to offer what we can, and welcome whatever others around us have to offer. Since, no matter our age or status, we are all called to be fellow workers in the kingdom of God, pray that we all can show up, and do the work that Christ needs us to do!

-Pastor Paul

Getting to Know You!

Each month we'll feature a St. John's member so we can get to know each other better.

Getting to Know You: Pete and Robin Kutzora

Catch them if you can! Be it via their camper, bikes, kayaks, or hiking boots, Pete and Robin Kutzora stay on the move – yet are still grounded in Wisconsin no matter where they roam.

Robin and Pete met at Cornell University, where they were friends for four years/housemates for two before starting to date during finals week senior year. After graduation, Pete went on to Washington, D.C.; Orlando, Saratoga Springs, NY; and New London, CT, to complete his navy training, while Robin returned to her home state of New Jersey and spent a couple years working for Flying Tigers air cargo line. When Pete found out he'd be spending three years on a submarine based near Seattle, Robin decided to join him. In 1988, they were married at Robin's home church in New Jersey.

The next stop on Pete's naval journey was two years in Saratoga Springs as a trainer, which allowed him time to job hunt. They weren't sure where they wanted to go, but they were quite certain they would move to one of the coasts. After a very nice offer from We Energies, they landed on the Midcoast and became Wisconsinites, where they thought they'd be for a couple years tops, but 30 years later here they still are: diehard Packers fans, with no plans to leave any time soon.

Pete has since retired from We Energies, where he was the plant manager for the Port Washington power plant. Robin is retired from FIS, where she managed a tech support team for their business internet banking product. And that's why they're on the move, spending a lot of time camping and traveling. They were tent campers since before they were married, but have stepped up their game and are now proud Airstream owners. They enjoy trips to the Wisconsin Northwoods and Door County, as well as longer journeys. Last winter, Robin and Pete spent three months exploring the Gulf Coast from Texas to Florida. Their cats Emerald and Jack enjoy coming along, which is great because Pete and Robin are planning to spend most of this winter in Southern California.

Robin and Pete have two children: Ryan, 29, is a project engineer for Great Lakes Dredge and Dock and is currently working on a project in Galveston, TX, and Paige, 25, is a senior analyst for Nestlé Foods and is living in Alexandria, VA. It's not a problem having them so far away from home base, though – just more places to visit!

Fun Facts:

- That's a 10! To support Paige – and learn a new skill! – Pete became a synchronized swimming judge and was the only male judge in Wisconsin.
- Pete spoke German as a child, and Robin speaks a fair amount of Spanish; both languages have been useful in their travels. How handy!
- Robin attended a Lutheran elementary school and graduated with a class of eight.
- During their time with the navy, Pete spent 400+ days under water on a sub, while Robin had a variety of jobs, including working at a dog groomer, the naval shipyard, and Radio Shack.
